Not very long ago this was science fiction!

Relax in the en-suite tub with classical music. Easy listening rock 'n roll on the deck with friends. Kids listening to their iPod in their rooms.

Mom can catch up on the daily news in the den and dad can tune into his favourite XM or Sirius station in his workshop.

Easily add an intercom module to the system and you have created a home paging and communication system.

Lifestyle solutions that are hassle free and help you enjoy your down time.

Wow! - a private movie theater in the comfort of your own home! Choose an invisible speaker system, or conventional free-standing speakers, a sleek wall mounted Plasma or the latest in DLP projection technology.

We design, engineer and install systems and remotes to fit your budget.

Automate your house. Lights come up as the sun goes down. Transform lighting scenes in different rooms.

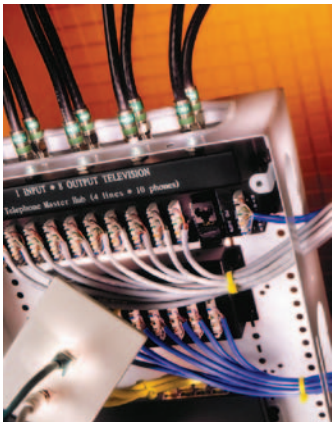

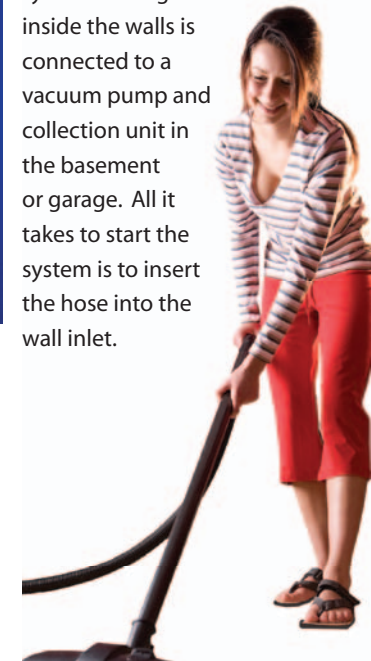

Integrate your lighting with your security system. Automatically turn the heat down during the day when you are not there or turn the air conditioning up just before you get home. You can access all the controls to your home from the office via the internet.

Security systems are always a concern when building or renovating a home or office. Our systems are fully capable of being monitored or can stand alone.

Reduce your insurance costs by adding a security system.

Instead of a traditional vacuum, Central vac is a whole-house system. Tubing installed inside the walls is connected to a vacuum pump and collection unit in the basement or garage. All it takes to start the system is to insert the hose into the wall inlet.

Structured Network Wiring is the best option to provide you the opportunity and flexibility to add new technologies as they become available. A good wiring system is the foundation for delivering a proper network to homes and businesses that use state-of-the-art electronic equipment. Structured Wiring provides you with the opportunity to enjoy home automation, computer networking, high-speed communications, and much, much more!
